

Looking for proven teaching strategies and methods that you can use in your classroom?

TRIPS

The Research Informed Practice Site
Learning Exchange Online
Research of the month

This DfES website offers easy access to essential research findings for teachers, governors, parents and all those who support them in the education of school age students.

The DfES and CUREE aim to help you make sure that practice and policy in schools, and at a regional and national level, are informed by good and up-to-date evidence.

You will find accessible digests of research on the site, grouped under themes such as Assessment, Behaviour and Gender, which:

- use plain language and clear illustrations;
- allow you to move simply between different ideas and digests according to your interests; and
- look at some of the implications for practitioners.

Much of this evidence can be found in research journals and other sources that take time, energy and often money to access. We take articles from research journals and put them through a rigorous appraisal process so that only robust studies are summarised, with the needs of practitioners in mind.

This is just one example of the educational research resources produced by CUREE. For further information about TRIPS and other CUREE products please visit <http://www.curee-paccts.com>
